A gang of kypies, encamped west of the river, became very boisterous last night, and from their loud demonstrations and angry threats, it is supposed they were quarreling among themselves.

L. E. Pierce, a prominent stock dealer of Kentucky, has signified his intention of exhibiting largely at the approaching State fair and has already secured accommodations for that purpose.

A meeting of stockholders of the Sentinel Company was held last evening with a view of pouring oil upon the troubled waters which now seem to agitate the frames of the managing editor and business manager of that corporation.

Charles Smith, while intoxicated, deliberately broke into Gray's tailor shop on Kentucky avenue about five o'clock this morning, and was making himself decidedly familiar, when officer Devinish was called in and marched the presuming fellow off to the station house.

Yesterday afternoon the notorious Matt Holly and the equally notorious Sandy Nelson engaged in a lively skirmish in the vicinity of West Vermont and North streets, in which the last mentioned was decidedly worsted. It was all owing to Sandy showing too much attention to one Matt Tillee, which aroused the green-eyed monster in the Holly woman.

The City Attorney to-day caused to be issued a writ of mandamus from the Superior Court against the L. & L. Railway Company, compelling that corporation to lower their road bed and track to the level of the street crossings between Washington and Michigan streets, or else appear and show cause for disregarding the frequent instructions of Council to that effect.

Hamilton, the infamous proprietor of the unlicensed South Illinois street dead-fall establishment, was a witness to-day in the City Court against the character of an institution in his neighborhood which is far more decent and open handed in its dealings than his thieving resort. It comes with poor grace for such as he to give evidence bearing on the character of his neighbors.

THE MAINTENANCE INFORMATION.

Prof. Valentine concludes his Testimony.

Prof. E. G. Valentine resumed the witness stand yesterday, and in direct examination said that when questioned before the grand jury in reference to Ida Fawcett's seduction he had explicitly denied the charge, which he again reiterates. Witness denounced as false the statement as to Ida being a frequent visitor to his room, and said he had been limited to two or three, and even then she was always accompanied by some of her classmates.

Mr. Valentine also related the circumstances of his being absent from the institute on the afternoon and evening on which Ida alleged she had an interview with him at the institute with reference to shifting the crime of her seduction upon her uncle, John E. Fawcett.

With reference to Ida sending him a note during her illness, witness said it was merely a request for him to bring or send her a book from the library, he having charge of that department of the institution.

His account of the scene in Ida's sick room on the 28th of March, was given and confirmed precisely to the versions of Mr. MacIntire, Dr. Latham and Mrs. Taylor.

TO-DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Mr. Ezra G. Valentine on cross-examination said he had not inquired of Mrs. Taylor about Ida's friends, but asked her where Ida was going to live when she left the institute. Ida asked me for my photograph, and I made the sign, "perhaps, I'll see." Witness received a note from Ida Fawcett, on the 14th of February or the first of March, which was in the hand writing of Alice Robinson. I knew at the time Ida had been sick, but I did not know she was sick then. The note was not sealed and read thus:

"Mr. Ezra G. Valentine: Will you send me something to read this afternoon."

Witness thought he was at the institution on the 14th of March, but did not remember whether anyone called at his room. Here the cross-examining counsel read from Valentine's evidence given before the grand jury, which witness said was substantially correct.

Officer Enrich suspended.

For some days past a remarkable "coolness" has existed between officer John Enrich and Chief of Police Wilson, occasioned by what Wilson thought was over presumption on the part of this patrolman in dictating to him with reference to managing the police force. This uneasiness was aggravated by Enrich's bling complaint against the Denton and Smith houses last evening, and handing the warrants for service to City Marshal Thompson, instead of first submitting them to the Chief as per instructions. When Wilson took him to task about it last night, the officer was responsible for the action he had taken, and showed a disposition to act independently of his superior officers. For disobeying his chief's instructions he was transferred from his day run in the 7th ward to night duty in the 13th. This of course widened the breach between Wilson and Enrich, and the latter sought out the chief's headquarters this morning and presented him with a couple of warrants, with the remark that he "wanted them served this evening without fail."

The manner in which he gave his orders served to irritate Wilson, who immediately took him to task for his conduct, and considered himself suspended until the Board inquired into his case of insubordination and drunkenness. The officer then made use of some very demonstrative language toward Captain Griffin, until that official concluding that forbearance had ceased to be a virtue, had Enrich arrested on a warrant in penitentiary, to which he pleaded guilty when arraigned before the Mayor, and was assessed the usual $12.40 fine.

Enrich makes some very damaging statements about Wilson and other members of the police force, which he proposes to make public when his case comes up for hearing before the Board of Commissioners, and in the event of having given the warrant to the City Marshal instead of Wilson, Enrich observed that he had doubts whether his chief would authorize his service, considering the high standing (?) of the parties against whom it was issued. This officer at least deserves credit for having the disposition and audacity to file against these high-toned palaces of sin, and if that is the direct cause of his suspension it is very unfortunate.

The Mississippi Editors.

The editorial excursion which arrives here at 6:30 this evening from Chicago via the I. & L. Road, is under the direction of Col. J. L. Power of the Jackson, (Miss.) Clarion, and the Press Association of that State is represented by the following ladies and gentlemen:

ton County Angus; Miss Fannie Fort, Frank Burritt, Chickasaw, and John C. Hall, Carthage, Carthage; James M. Lowry, late editor Oxford Falcon; Miss Sallie L. Lowry.

It is suggested that arrangements be made for the proper reception and entertainment of these visitors during their stay in the city. Common courtesy would at least suggest this much, and as the time before their arrival is quite limited, immediate steps should be taken to give them a favorable impression of our city and its advantages.

Daylight Burglary.
Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon burglars were observed ransacking Elder W. F. Black's residence, 124 North Mississippi street, in the absence of the family, and officers Coulter and Asmus were notified and at once proceeded to intercept the intruders in their unlawful avocation. In the appearance of the officials the men within attempted their escape, but were instantly closed in on and secured with but little trouble. They were conducted to the station house and proved to be none other than the notorious James Landrigh and Charles Colley, both of whom have figured conspicuously in police circles.

Landrigh, it will be remembered, was recently sent to the penitentiary for conspiring to commit a felony on Tom. Barlow, but through some technicality granted a new trial and acquitted. They were arraigned before the Mayor to-day, and in default of bail were committed into the Sheriff's custody.

Wants $10,000.

Dr. Franklin Cosgrove, of Maysville, Allen county, through his attorneys, Stratton & Stratton, and Taylor, Band & Taylor, has instituted libel proceedings in the Circuit Court for $10,000 damages against Hon John E. Neff G. W. H. Riley, and R. U. Dum, former editors and proprietors of the Fort Wayne Sentinel. The complaint alleges that on the 3d of September, 1875, he was published in the Sentinel as being a hypocrite, libertine, coward, and having attempted to commit rape upon Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider while attending her professional. For all of which libelous assertions his character and professional standing has suffered, and hence his demand for satisfaction in the meagre sum above noted.

Sheriff's Arrest.

Deputy Sheriff Travis, to-day made the following arrests, on grand jury warrants: Wm. Ridgeway, two cases, keeping a gambling house. John Williams, same charge together with being a professional gambler. The last mentioned holds forth over Pat Welch's saloon. Jerry O'Leary, gave bond in a number of cases for violation of the liquor law, and Jennie Watts, white, and Henry Patton, colored, were committed to jail in default of $500 bail, for living in adultery on Yates street. The twin were just in the act of shipping their goods and skipping the town, when the officer swooped down took them in on the above charge.

City Court.

The drunks were Peter Markey, Andrew J. Morris, Wm. Klare, S. C. Hutchings, and Thomas Shoff. Kate Denton, and Lizzie Smith were fined $50 and costs each, for keeping a house of ill fame, and the following named occupants $14.40, Mamie Caldwell, Petie Colvin, Frankie Stetner, Edie Fletcher, Lizzie Prather, Lottie Lewis, Blanche Chapman, Mary Johnson, Rosie Lee, Ida Davis and Mary Miller. Lizzie Mitchell, Lydia Taylor, and Thompson, were also fined under the ill fame ordinance.

A Film Show Itself.

In the article in The News, signed "Director," the case of the reinsurance of the Mississippi Valley Life Insurance Company is spoken of. It might be a pertinent inquiry to ask how much the St. Louis Mutual Life has hastened towards its own death by the reinsurance of such companies. The citation is bad, because it is generally understood that the St. Louis Mutual Life did not make more than it ought to by this transaction and some others which culminated in the loss of the company. It is even questionable if it had as much as a 6 per cent. reinsurance fund to get in out of the cold with.
